Maguindanao, Philippines: Johnny and Juanita Paz tend their home garden together. The couple received cash-for-work assistance from Oxfam and partners to support their livelihoods and promote sharing of the domestic work burden. Johnny says, "It does not feel unmanly if I share housework with my wife. We are still equal. We need to work together and understand each other." Photo: Princess Taroza/Oxfam.

Ma'an, Jordan: After founding a women's cooperative in 2005, Jameelah (pictured at Athroh Castle) urged the Ministry of Tourism to renovate the castle — a heritage site — so co-op members could sell their handcrafted products there. It is now a thriving marketplace for female entrepreneurs. Jameelah received Oxfam-supported financial literacy, soft skills and entrepreneurship trainings. She says, "Being one of the entrepreneurship trainees helped me a lot in my career path, I learnt how to market my work." Photo: Nesma AlNsour/Oxfam.

Badin, Pakistan: In Hooran's village, climate change and seawater intrusion have made farming lands unworkable and drinking water undrinkable. To make matters worse, women are excluded from water management decision-making. But together with local partners, Oxfam is training women like Hooran (pictured right) and Zebo (left) how to cope with the crisis and advocate for their rights to access clean water. OXFAM 2022 CALENDAR

This collection of portraits captures the resilience of the human spirit and the positive impact Oxfam has made in partnership with communities around the globe.

At Oxfam we believe all lives are equal and no-one should live in poverty. We join forces with people who share this belief, to empower communities to build better lives for themselves. That's why we are there on the ground, not only to save lives in times of crisis, but also to develop lasting solutions.

Our work spans wide because there are many causes of poverty. That's why we're also in front of decision-makers, governments and corporations, and speak out on the big issues.

Together we are tackling poverty by changing minds, systems and lives. You and Oxfam, tackling poverty together.

East Sepik, Papua New Guinea: Jasmin* (pictured with her daughter) endured eight years of violent abuse, psychological trauma and imprisonment from her husband, not realising she had rights. When she finally found the courage to escape with her children, Oxfam partner Family for Change helped her seek justice and start a new life. Photo: Patrick Moran/OxfamAUS.

Oxfam Australia acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples as the original custodians of the land, and respects the rights that they hold as the Traditional Custodians. We also recognise the dispossession of the land and its ongoing effects on First Nations Peoples today.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people should be aware that this calendar may contain images or names of people who have since passed away.
