Act on climate change

Hunger is spreading. Clean water is harder to find. Homes are being destroyed. Climate change is impacting the world's poorest communities now. As one of the world's highest per person greenhouse polluters Australia has an obligation to do much more.

I call on the Australian Government to:

- Pay our fair share into a global fund enabling poor communities to tackle the impacts of climate change
- Support innovative proposals to finance climate adaptation (e.g. a "Robin Hood" style tax)
- Actively work for a fair, ambitious and binding global climate change agreement
