EMERGENCY APPEAL

EMERGENCY HYGIENE KIT $49

HOW DOES OXFAM RESPOND IN EMERGENCIES?

- OXFAM AIMS TO BE FIRST IN, LAST OUT. We work with local communities to make sure they're prepared for a disaster. We coordinate emergency relief when a disaster hits, and support families to recover and reduce the risk of future disasters.
- GETTING INFORMATION FAST. We teach community organisations how to prepare an initial rapid assessment when a disaster strikes. We have people on the ground right now, telling us what's going on and what needs to be done.
- WATER, SANITATION AND HYGIENE. This is always a priority because, after an emergency, unclean water and unhygienic conditions can cause serious illness and death. We have warehouses around the world filled with materials to tackle sanitation and hygiene problems. Donations help us distribute equipment to test and purify water and provide hygiene kits to families.
- SHELTER AND SAFETY. Following an emergency, we help communities re-build homes, and provide vital equipment such as mosquito nets, cooking utensils, and floor matting.
- LONG-TERM RECOVERY. Often, a disaster destroys communities' sources of food. We provide seeds and equipment so local farmers can replant their crops and recover. We also give farmers the knowledge they need to replant crops safely in the face of soil contamination, flooding and heavy rains.
- WORKING WITH GOVERNMENTS AND LOCAL NGOS. We work with governments and other local organisations to coordinate humanitarian efforts. Together we pass on long-term skills so the community is better equipped to deal with future disasters, and prepared for the effects of climate, water and weather-related disasters.
